William hill golden goal ended

Golden Goal is an offer from William Hill that is available at selected football matches and settles bets as a winner if the team you're behind scores the first goal. How does the Golden Goal work? Just back any team to win in eligible football matches and if you score the first goal of the game, your bet will be paid as the winner regardless of the final result. You can bet as little or as much as you want on eligible matches, but there is a maximum payout in case your team scores the first goal and doesn't go on to win the match. The maximum payment is account-specific, so check this amount by linking to your William Hill account and visiting the golden goal promotion page. William Hill Betting's Claim Offers

Below is an example based on a maximum payout of £50. If the qualifying match was Tottenham v Man Utd and you placed a £25 bet on Man Utd to win at odds of 2/1 (3.0), the payments would be: Man Utd to score first and win the match: £75 (£25 bet + £50 winnings) Man Utd to score first and be drawn or drawn lost: £7.5 (£25 bet + £50 winnings) Man Utd does not score first and win the match: £7.5 (£25 bet + £50 winnings) Man Utd does not score first and lose or draw: £25 How to take advantage of golden goal gold provides a way to potentially make a good profit when matching bets. The strategy is to place a bet back on each team to win and place your bet on a betting exchange. If your team scores first, you win your bet, but if you continue to either draw or lose the match, you can also win your lay bet! As there are maximum winnings in case your team scores the first goal and does not win the game, you should use the following formula to calculate the ideal bet to use: Bet = maximum payout ÷ (odds – 1) Using the example above, the ideal bet when betting on Man Utd at odds of 2/1 (3.0) and with a maximum payout of £50 would be: Bet = 50 ÷ (3-1) = £25 If your team scores first, you have two options: I hope the other team will come back and win or the match ends in a draw. This way you will both win your back and place bets. Redeem your bet to lock in a win most matched players prefer to lock in a winning by redeeming their bet that you can make anywhere in the match. The cash out amount would be higher if the other team pulls a goal back, but you should be able to lock in a win even when your team is 1-0 up. To redeem your bet you can an 'Early Payment Calculator' such as the one available on the MatchedBets.com. This calculates the ideal bet to place against your bet to lock in a win regardless of the final result. So if the team you've backed to win the score first, but go on to draw or even lose the match, you'll be paid as a winner, in cash, up to £50.WILLIAM HILL GOLDEN GOAL BET Strategy Golden Goal provides a way to potentially make a good profit when matching betting. You just have to support a team to win and put the same team in any betting exchange (e.g. Betfair). As the maximum winnings to promote the Golden Goal are at £50 in case your team scores the first goal and doesn't win the game, you have to calculate the right bet. You can use the following formula: Bet = 50 ÷ (odds – 1)Using the example above, the correct bet when you support Liverpool at odds of 2/1 (3.0) would be:Bet = 50 ÷ (3-1) = £25 If your team scores the first goal of the match, you have two choices: I hope the other team wins or the match ends in a draw. This way you will both win your back and place bets. Redeem your bet to secure a guaranteed profit. There are many other methods that you can have a guaranteed win. You can place a simple return and low bet and if our selected team scores first, you can then place an extra bet back on your selected team to lock in a win, regardless of the result. Instead of placing your selection in the 'Race Winner' market, you can place them on the 'Next Goal' market at Betfair. This method gives you a guaranteed profit in result, but less likely to make a big profit. To get the maximum profit, you need your team to concede the first goal and win, instead your team can score the first goal and draw or lose the match.
